5 Details of Complaint(s) (Be brief, but try to identify and include all allegations)

The complainant, Mr. Anthony JASICH, a retired lawyer in B.C., is acting on behalf of Mr. Harold GAFFNEY ("GAFFNEY"). In July, 2007, GAFFNEY provided "E" Div. Commercial Crime Section ("CCS") with a lengthy report outlining his concerns about a property transaction related to address 312-450 Bromley Street, Coquitlam ("the Property"). This property was held by both GAFFNEY and his wife, Mrs. Sheila GAFFNEY, wherein the joint tenancy ultimately dissolved between the two. Resulting court decisions and subsequent suspected fraudulent real estate and banking transactions regarding the Property, caused Mr. JASICH in June 2009, to submit complaints to the Office of the Attorney General of B.C., and CCS.

In June 2009, as result of receiving the complaint and support material from Mr. JASICH regarding the possible fraudulent transfer of title for the Property, CCS investigators conducted a thorough review of same. They concluded that there was insufficient grounds to recommend criminal charges. They also addressed two new elements introduced by Mr. JASICH, and those being: the misdirection of funds by CIBC; and unauthorized signatures on a mortgage discharge document ("the two new elements"). CCS investigators could find no standing for a criminal investigation for either matter and suggested that they be addressed with the Financial Institution in question, suggesting an approach of a civil action.

In August 2009, resulting from Inspector L.M. BAIN's letter, dated 2009-07-16, advising Mr. JASICH of the CCS investigation results of the two new elements, Mr. JASICH lodged a Public Complaint. His complaint suggests that Insp. BAIN's response on the two new elements, and assessment thereof, is wrong, and requests the matter be re-examined.

I certify this complaint to be true and correct to the best of my knowledge.
